

521-597

Columba, by birth eligible for the kingship of North Ireland, he entered religion & founded monasteries all over the northern half of Ireland, many of which became famous centres of scholarship and illuminated art. Kells & Durrow are conspicuous examples.